Dear Friends

Around Feb 2002, our team came together for the first time to have our first kick off meeting on NICE. On 15-March 2002 the team met again to discuss based on basic researched data of NGOs working in the education segment. During this meeting, we had decided on the Vision, Mission, Objectives, Form and Structure of NICE. NICE is inspired by the J Krishnamurti foundation's methodology of imparting education which primarily equips a student with a basic education, vocation training and modern values.

Vision: Work towards balanced development of illiterate Indians, releasing their potential as community developers.

Mission: A center for rural vocational education providing both vocational and development training to village-level men and women.

Core-Values: Highest levels of individual and social accomplishment demand very high values. Formal education and training programs focus almost exclusively on imparting physical, social and mental skills. They place very little conscious emphasis on the attitudes, the mental understanding and decisiveness, and the psychological values needed for these skills to result in accomplishment and fulfillment.

On 06-May 2002 NICE was registered with the Registrar of Societies of Andhra Pradesh. Around this period, scouting for a Project area began and on 21-Aug 2002 a 0.65 acre plot was purchased and registered in Mynampadu Village, Kanaparthi Mandal, Guntur District. Ignoring advices that the plot registration may be made on an individual's name, we went ahead and registered on NICE.

On 26-Nov 2002, We obtained clearances of IT Exemption under IT Act; 80G for 03 years with effect from May 6th 2002 FCRA clearance for acceptance of funds from abroad is awaiting clearance as on date. We are likely to receive this clearance by the end of May 2003.

Our immediate aim was to begin the school at Mynampadu Project for the 2003-2004 academic year. On 03-Feb 2003, the foundation stone (Bhoomisujala) was laid and work has been progressing since. Thanks to benevolent donors like you, NICE-Mynampadu project enjoys the unique distinction of being the latest 'paper to reality' project relying majority on funding from individuals.

About NICE-Mynampadu Project

Objective: The Mynampadu project seeks to provide students with skills to earn a living and impart a new vision of community service apart from formal education.

Goal: Balanced vocational training for rural areas with a specialized curriculum in spiritual and moral principles. The effort is aimed at producing a group of capable and energized individuals who can return to their villages and, while supporting themselves, undertake and encourage local and sustainable development efforts.

Education Programme: The course of study offers four tracks:

- Board curriculum track,
- Spiritual track,
- Vocational track, and
- Cultural track.

In this way, each student should leave with some service skill - how to promote health, hygiene, literacy, the education of children and the like; some spiritual skills - so they know why they are doing these things; some vocational skills - so they can get some money to support themselves; and some cultural skills, meaning training in tolerance and diversity and the arts - so they have the confidence and the capacity to be leaders and they are able to convey development messages.

We present you the financial results for 2002-2003. A brief analysis of the results are

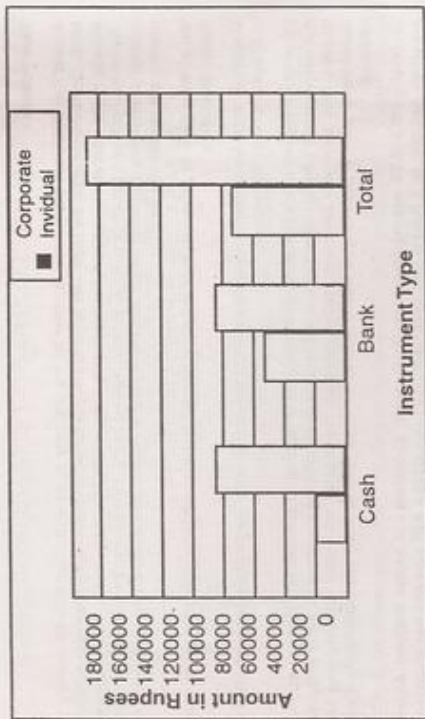

As you notice from the graph below, individual contribution has been driving our efforts so far. An important observation to note is the fact that the highest contribution of an individual has been only Rs. 22,000.00.

Together we have come this distance so far in realizing our dreams of serving to the society. We have reached the foot hills and we have the uphill to take on and probably many more uphill before we reach our objectives.

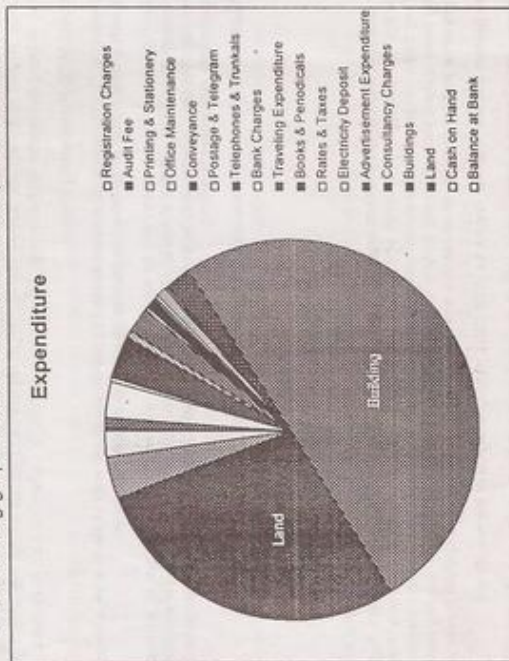

We request all of you to continue supporting NICE and help further by spreading and referring NICE to like minded persons.

Yours Truly

P. Purnachandra Rao
Secretary
